They Are Well and Report a Charming Trip-Met Another Richmond Party-Something of the Journey.

Dr. Hartley Carmichael, the learned and highly-extermed rector of St. Paul's church, arrived home from Europe last night. He was accompanied by his entire family, who went abroad with him three months ago. The spacious and comfortable rectory adjoining the historic church was thrown open early in the evening, and made to appear as cheerful as possible, and a number of close friends of the minister and his family were on hand to welcome them home again, Dr. Carmichael's party reached Richmond from New York at 6:33 o'clock last evetilug. They arrived in the metropolis on the Etruria, of the Cunard Line about e clock Saturday night and spent Sunday

M. Sorrell, manager of the Savannah Line. Mr. Sorrell was asked if he had noticed any increase in the demand for tonnage in the past two weeks and an improvement in southern business generally.

"Yes; there has been a most decided change," was his answer, "and a change for the better, too. It is due, I think, to the passage of the tariff bill, which removes that tension of uncertainty and doubt in the minds of the people that has fattered business for so long a time. Now merchants know how to act; the tariff is no longer an uncertainty, but a fact, and they can base their calculations accordingly. Since the passage of the bill the movement of merchandise South has increased very much, and all our steamers are now leaving with full freight cargoes. Mr. William L. Gulliaudeu, vice-president and traffic manager of the Old Dominion Steamship Company, said that the southward movement of freight during the past two weeks had been much larger than on any two weeks since the summer. the past two weeks had been much larger than on any two weeks since the summer of 1892. "I think," said he, "that the business depression from which the country has suffered for so long has at last come to an end, and that we have now entered upon a period of prosperity, which I trust will be lasting. I do not look for any great boom, and would be sorry to see any. My idea is that it is best for the improvement to be gradual and based on firm foundations. While the cotton crop is large in the South, and prices will be lower, the farmers have also been successful with other crops, and have good stores of subsistence, so they will not require the money derived from the sale of cotton for food, but have that much cotton for food, but have that much clear for the purchase of other articles. This fact, I think, will be found to be a factor in the situation.

"At the time we were operating under duced rates we were doing a very fair issness. When the old rates were re-ored, August 1st, I was in doubt whether ily had been taking from August's business or not, but our figures for August show that it had not. We have had a normal August business, but the demand for tonnage now is much larger than it was then."

As to the traffic of the Clyde Line it was said that the improvement in the demand for freight transportation South had been very marked since the tariff bill was passed.

Robert Mallory, of the Mallory Line, said that he had not noticed any marked improvement in business within the past two weeks. "It is no worse," it said, "and if anything, a little better. O course, we should have a better busi-ness in September than in August, for the fall season has now just opened, and the merchants all over the country are laying in stocks, but whether this is due to the passage of the tariff bill or not I cannot

The longest road has a turning, and that the course of business of the country has at last reached a turning point, changing from a period of depression to prosperity. Seems evident from the indications one meets with on every hand.

A particularly gratifying feature is that the improvement is not sectional, confined to any particular part of the country, but general, being noted in the North and South, East and West alike. There is no truer indication of the country than the amount of the country stocks were affected by special causes. In the case of the former, it was again

LOUISVILLE TOBACCO MARKET.

LOUISVILLE, September S.—Larger receipts of Burley and dark tobaccos, special grades of Burley lower, all destrable darks sustained, with continued excessively hot weather were the leading features this week.

Burley—Offerings at auction, 1832 crop, this week, 2,183; last week, 2,124; week in 1852, 2,038 hogsheads.

Smokers—Red, colory, and bright were in ample supply. Towards the widdle of the week, under heavy offerings, prices for red and colory trash and common were very irregular and lower. Since their he market for such racted and closed on the basis of inside figures; desirable lenfy bright smokers being sustained throughout.

Red Fillers—With no specially fine hogsheads, the offerings were unusually large

Late handling seasons in the country was the cause of the unusually heavy receipts this week, although receivers say no such heavy receipts can now be expected to continue.

Green River Füllers—Are without any new features: 69 hogsheads sold privately, Darks—Offerings were considerably larger, with more nondescript and ill-conditioned hogsheads. Factory trash ranks to ½c.; planters' trash, ½c. lower, but all the better grades in good export order remain unchanged, while as the season advances the receipts of more desirable quality appear to decrease. Regie styles, in good order, very firm and scarce.

Rejections—Total this week, 750 hogs-easts, against 820 hogsheads last week, eing 532 hogsheads Burley and 217 bogsing 30 hogsheads Burley and 21 hogs-asts darks. The growing crop continues to improve, ith cutting of the early planted to some test going on, but the late plantings all require good rains and a very late fall

CHICAGO PRODUCE MARKET.
CHICAGO, ILL., September 19.—Notwithstanding the fact that there was a holiday in Liverpool, the wheat market here was fairly active, without reference to the English situation. During last night there were frosts in the Northwest, and the curb was higher on this fact, the regular market opening with the unofficial gain well maintained. A leading local professional was seiling "puts" previous to the opening, afterwards selling wheat to protect himself. The market, after a good opening, preserved a firm undertone, prices holding steady. Towards the close of the session, New York wired a new "tip" on the government report to the effect that wheat and oats would be decidedly bearish and corn bullish. The market became weak on this news. The visible supply, with an ipcrease of 2.218,000 bushels, was a surprise, nobody looking for more than a cember wheat opened at from 57% to 57%, sold between 35 and 57c., and closed 4c. under Saturday Cash wheat was strong early, later ruling easier, with the options. Prices were about steady.

Corn-The frost in the Northwest was considered of sufficient importance to warrant a higher opening in corn. There was considerable resilings by holders, who felt that the government report had probably been overdone, and who wished to take time by the foreboek, elinehing their paper profits. The Wesh agton weather indications for to-fileht and to-morrow were for frosts in portions of the corn belt, and assisted an already firm tone. Prices dropped back later in the session, in sympathy with wheat. The visible supply increased 45,000 bushels, and on occan passage there was a decrease of 178,000 bushels. May spend at from 50% to 56%c., soll to 55%c, and closed at 50%c.—a net loss of $6.00 for the day. Cash corn was in good demand, shippers and elevator people buying. Prices opened it to $6.00 bushels, and closed with the advance lost.

Outs-What little trading there was in onts was on the basis of the action in wheat and corn. At times complete inactivity prevailed. The opening was firm, prices ruling higher. The visible supply increased 511,000 bushels. May opened $6.00 bushels. May o
